

Global Biometric Screening Services

Empower employees to identify untreated health risks and conditions.

Knowing your numbers can be a powerful catalyst for behavior change and health improvement. Fingerstick screenings are fast and reliable and give broad insight into a person's physical measures, heart health, and pancreas health – key areas in determining chronic or severe health risks. Once the risk level is known, engagement in health and wellbeing benefits becomes even more meaningful, empowering employees to take an active role in their health.

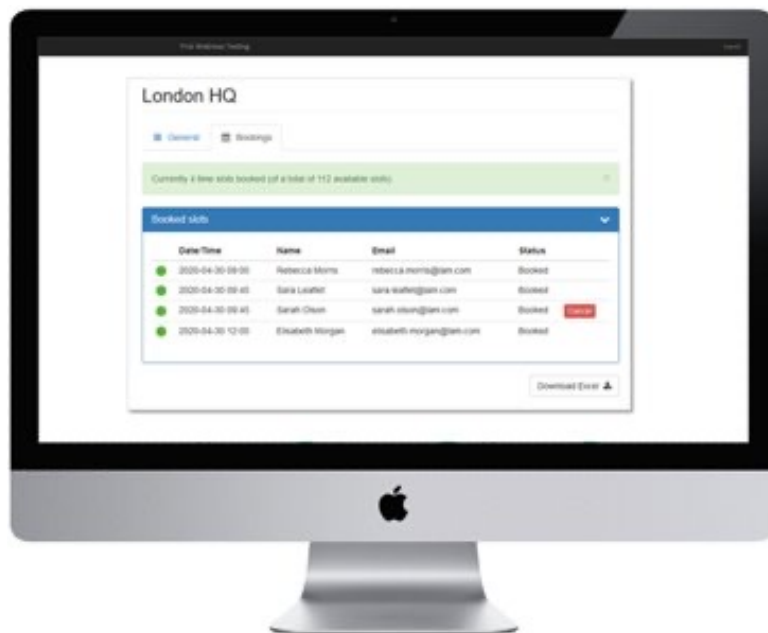

In collaboration with Quest Diagnostics, Virgin Pulse Global Biometric Screening Services makes it simple to administer this important health assessment by alleviating the administrative burden of health screening event logistics and helping you access hard-to-reach populations.
